ABOUT NASHIK

Nashik is a historically, mythological, socially and culturally important city in the northern part of the state of Maharashtra in India. It is known for the temples on the banks of the Godavari and it has historically been one of the holy sites of the Hindu religion. It is one of the four cities that hosts the massive Sinhastha Kumbh Mela once every twelve years.

Nashik is also known as Mini Maharashtra, because the climate and soil conditions of Surgana, Peth, Igatpuri resembles with Konkan. Niphad, Sinnar, Dindori, Baglan blocks are like Western Maharashtra and Yeola, Nandgaon, Chandwad blocks are like Vidarbha Region. Nashik is the biggest city in the district.

KUMBH MELA

Nashik is home to Nashik-Trimbakeshwar Simhastha (Kumbh Mela) – a Hindu religious Mela (fair) held every 12 years. It is one of the four fairs traditionally recognized as Kumbha Melas, and is also known as Nashik-Trimbak Kumbha Mela or Nashik Kumbha Mela. The Nashik Kumbh Mela is normally considered to be the most holy celebrations in Hinduism. Nashik is home to many temples and religious sites of the Jain, Hindu and Muslim religions.

Nashik is situated at the foothills of Western Ghats, on the banks of River Godavari.

Nashik is also known for its abundant fruits and vegetables. The yield of grapes, strawberries and onions in Nashik is among the highest in the country. Nashik's people are known for their cultural art, literature, and food.

The primary language spoken in Nashik is Marathi. It is the native language of the city and state, and originates from Prakrit.

English is also widely spoken by the population.

The literacy rate is 89.95%, with 93.40% of men literate, and 85.92% of women

Nashik district is the third largest district in Maharashtra in terms of population of 6,107,187 and occupying an area of 15,582 square kilometres in the north Maharashtra region. It is bounded by Dhule District to the north, Jalgaon District to the east, Aurangabad District to the southeast, Ahmadnagar District to the south, Thane District to the southwest, Valsad and Navsari districts of Gujarat to the west, and The Dangs district of Gujarat state to the northwest.

The Western Ghats or Sahyadri range stretches from north to south across the western portion of the district. With the exception of the westernmost few villages, the western portion is hilly, and intersected by ravines, and only the simplest kind of cultivation is possible. The western slope of the Ghats is drained by several rivers, including the Daman Ganga River, which drains westwards to the Arabian Sea.

AVERAGE WEATHER DURING DECEMBER IN NASHIK (MAHARASHTRA), INDIA

The average minimum temperature (usually the minimum temperature is noted during the night) in Nashik in December is 10.9°C (51.62°F). December is a dry month with an average of 5mm (0.2in) rain. The average maximum daytime temperature lies around 29.3°C (84.74°F).
